U.N. Officials Expect Reds to Prevent Probe

Red Minister Claims Investigation Will Add More Confusion

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Some U.N. diplomats expect the Soviet Union to cast its 88th veto today to prevent an international investigation of the downing of the American RB47 reconnaissance plane by a Soviet jet fighter July 1.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov told the Security Council Monday his government is "resolutely opposed" to the U.S. proposal that the U.S. and Soviet governments submit their dispute over the plane to an international commission or to the International Court of Justice.

The only purpose of such an inquiry, said Kuznetsov, would be to "confuse a completely clear issue."

The U.N. diplomats also anticipated that a majority of the 11-nation council would vote down a Soviet resolution asking the council to condemn "continuing provocative actions by the United States Air Force" and to insist that the U.S. government stop such flights.

In the debate Monday U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge denied the Soviet charge that the RB47 was on a spy flight and was over Soviet territorial waters when it was shot down in the Barents Sea.

Lodge told the council the plane was on an "electromagnetic observation flight" and never came closer than 30 miles to the Soviet coast, 18 miles beyond the 12-mile limit the Soviets put on their territorial waters.

Kuznetsov charged that Lodge's version was fabricated and his maps falsified. But Sir Pierson Dixon of Britain told the council his government also "has reliable evidence" to show that the plane never went within 30 miles of the Soviet coast.

The Soviets are holding two of the plane's six crewmen for trial as spies, and three are missing. The body of the sixth, the pilot, was recovered by the Soviets and was flown to the U.S. base in Germany Monday.

Congo Needs $10 Million In Foreign Funds

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Finance Minister Pascal Nkanyi today said his government needs up to 10 million dollars of foreign funds to keep it running in August.

Nkanyi said the government can meet its payroll at the end of July, but unless foreign aid begins to arrive soon the state will collapse and the Congo "will be plunged in unemployment and misery."

Three weeks of chaos following the army mutiny has stopped economic and social activity throughout the vast new nation and paralyzed the inexperienced government administration, he told a news conference.

He appealed again to Belgian and other foreign technicians who fled the country to return.

Nkanyi said the increase of jobless in the nation of more than 13 millions is catastrophic. Many factories and business establishments are closed for lack of competent supervision.

U.S. Ambassador Clare Timberlake left for Washington Monday night for consultations. Timberlake came to Leopoldville on the eve of independence almost four weeks ago.

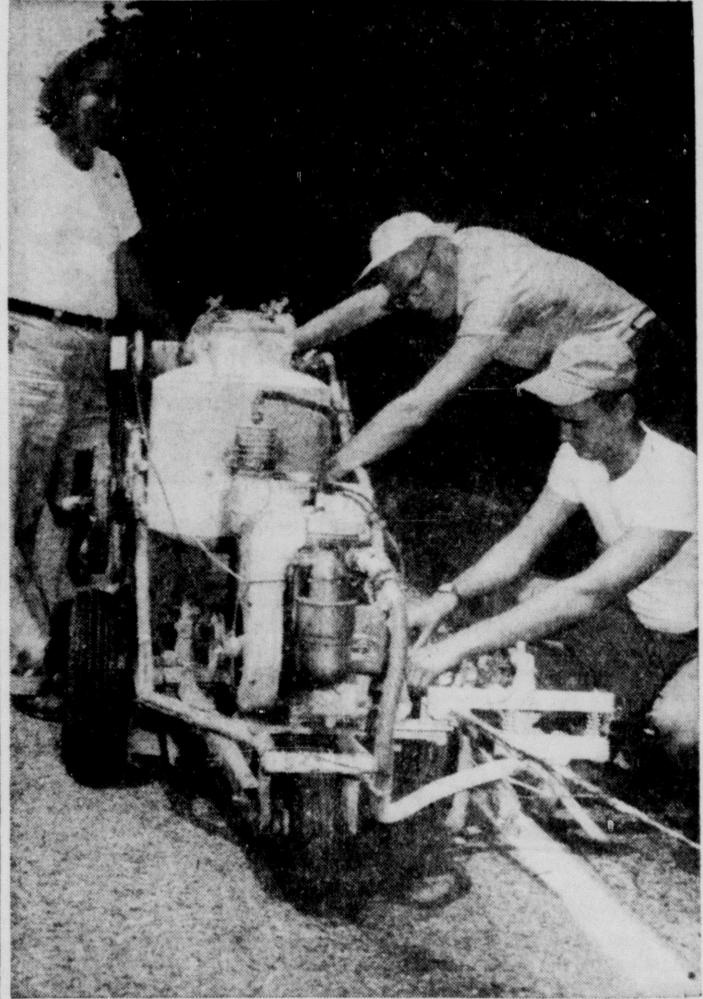

President Joseph Kasavubu told Timberlake when the ambassador presented his credentials he was sorry for the unpopularity which many diplomats have suffered in the recent troubled weeks. Kasavubu expressed the hope that missionaries who have left the country will return soon.

By Wednesday Maj. Gen. Carl von Horn's command expects to have about 9,000 multiracial troops on duty to pacify the country and enable economic wheels to start turning again.

McKenna to Review Area Road Plans

Southern Rt. 62 Bypass Ruled Out

Consulting engineers working with the State Highway Department have apparently ruled out one of five alternatives proposed as relocations for Rt. 62 around Salem and Alliance.

William McKenna, head engineer in the Highway Department's Division 11, which includes Columbiana County, said today a proposal to reroute Rt. 62 south of both cities has been determined "unacceptable" by the firm of Goodkind and O'Dea, consultants of Bloomfield, N.J.

McKenna will meet tonight at 7 with Mayor Dean Crammer and City Council regarding the present status of highway projects in the Salem area.

The division engineer's presence was requested by the mayor after a delegation of S. Lincoln Ave. residents turned up at last week's Council meeting inquiring about the progress of the rerouting of Rt. 45 traffic off S. Lincoln Ave.

McKenna said he is preparing all available data on the Rt. 45 situation and that he expects to be able to give an up to date account.

Up to now three proposed relocations of the route have been discussed publicly by officials. They are: rerouting the traffic over Pidgeon and Depot Rds.; constructing a new highway to cut off the existing Rt. 45 at a point near Ziegler's Market in the south and meeting existing Rt. 62 somewhere west of Salem, and constructing a new highway to cut off existing Rt. 45 south of Salem at the Pennsylvania Railroad and meeting Rt. 62 west of Salem.

Little discussed before, the proposed Rt. 62 change south of Salem and Alliance would have had its terminals at the end of existing Rt. 62 in Stark County and at the Lake Erie to Ohio River Highway east of Salem.

Exact reason for rejecting the route was not disclosed, but it is believed the eastern terminus would be too far south of Youngstown to adequately serve that industrialized city.

Among other routes being included in the preliminary Goodkind and O'Dea report are three north of Salem and Alliance, one of CALLAHAN, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Carmen Grigsby, 59, of Canfield, Ohio, was killed and three other women were seriously injured when their car ran off a rain-slick highway and struck two trees. The accident happened Monday eight miles south of Callahan on U.S. 301.

The injured, all reported in very serious condition at a Fernandina Beach hospital, are Mrs. Grigsby's twin sister, Mrs. Beulah Krantz, 59, of South Charleston, W. Va., the driver; their aunt, Mrs. May Youell, 75, of Kincaid, W. Va., and Mrs. Susan Hinger, 59, of Youngstown, Ohio.

U.N. Reaffirms Promise to Oust Belgians

Assures Congo's Premier It Will 'Spare No Effort'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba says U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold has promised him to "spare no effort" to get Belgian troops out of the Congo.

The Congo leader scheduled final talks with Hammarskjold this morning, prior to the secretary-general's departure tonight for discussions with the Belgian government in Brussels and a survey of the Congo situation from Leopoldville.

Lumumba told a news conference Monday he would go to Washington and to Canada to seek French-speaking technicians for the Congo and then fly back to Leopoldville for another meeting with Hammarskjold Aug. 5.

The Congo premier said he had asked Hammarskjold to set a deadline for the withdrawal of Belgian troops. He said Hammarskjold "assured me he will spare no effort and it is in that spirit that he will negotiate in Brussels with the government of Belgium."

Lumumba accused the Belgians of provoking the mutiny in the Congo army by failing to give promotions to native personnel when independence was granted June 30. He also accused the Belgians of trying to detach the rich province of Katanga, whose government has declared its independence of the central government.

"There is no problem of Katanga," Lumumba declared. "There is only the problem of the withdrawal of the Belgian troops."

The Belgian soldiers, sent into Congolese cities after the native troops mutinied, now are slowly pulling back to their bases in the Congo as a UN force of 12,000 moves in to keep order.

Lumumba called again on Belgium to pull her troops entirely out of the Congo, claiming the Belgians had "violated and destroyed" the friendship treaty under which they retained two bases in their former African colony.

Asked if he would renew his threat to call in Soviet troops if the Belgian troops did not quit his country, he said he was convinced Belgium "will have to bow before the Security Council's decision and will have to leave our territory."

Man Hurt as Car Rams Embankment

Glen Powell, 33, of Lisbon, suffered lacerations of the mouth and possible head and face injuries in a highway mishap Monday morning near Lisbon. He is reported in fair condition at City Hospital.

Sheriff's deputies said Powell was hurt when a car driven by George E. Dotson, 20, of Lisbon crashed into an embankment on the old Steubenville-Lisbon Rd., just north of Lisbon at 11:26 a.m. Dotson said the brakes on his car failed.

Salem Youth Fined as Result of Accident

Russell R. Welling Jr., 22, of RD 2, Salem was handed a suspended six-month jail sentence and fined $50 and costs in Mayor Dean Crammer's traffic court this morning on a charge of reckless operation.

The suspension was granted on condition that Welling be on good behavior for one year. He was arrested early Saturday morning after his car went out of control on Jennings Ave. and caused considerable property damage. Welling and a passenger in his car were slightly injured.

Petitions Presented to City Auditor

Ballot Place Asked For Firemen's Bill

Members of the Salem Fire Department Monday presented City Auditor Helen Coyne with 20 initiatory petitions asking that an ordinance establishing a 36-hour work week be placed on the November ballot.

The petitions were circulated by 11 firemen and signed by 1,650 Salem electors. Guy Mauro, attorney for the firemen, said the verified copy of the ordinance must, within 10 days, be certified to the County Board of Elections.

Circulating the petitions were firemen James Moracco, Harry E. Lodge, Norman S. Smith, Martin R. Catlos, Harold E. Pike, Elmer M. Bush, Robert L. Gibson, George K. Schmid, Arthur W. Votaw, Daniel Papic and Albert F. Koontz.

The committee representing the firemen and filing the petitions was composed of firemen Smith, Catlos, Schmid, Papic, Lodge and Votaw.

In June, firemen submitted the same ordinance to City Council, asking that Council give it consideration. However, Council in the midst of a financial dilemma, placed the ordinance on file and took no further action. Councilmen noted at the time that to reduce the firemen's hours would require the employment of an additional three firemen or a reduction in fire protection. The additional firemen would cost the city an extra $14,000 plus in salaries alone.

Salem firemen have been working a 72-hour week since 1939. In making the request to City Council for reduced hours, they pointed out that there are 41 cities in Ohio where firemen work 56-hour weeks and 18 other cities working them less than 72.

The centennial of the Grand Old Party's nomination of Abraham Lincoln for the presidency.

Another draught from the cup of auld lang syne as Republicans again said hail and farewell to Herbert Clark Hoover, now 85, who stepped down from the presidency nearly 23 years ago.

Today promised another double-shot of happiness for the Buckeye contingent:

A chance to see, hear and cheer Dwight D. Eisenhower, the party's first two-full-term president of this century, and Another hope that the Ohio delegates will have a chance to greet personally Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the man they expect to carry the GOP banner to victory in November.

The New York governor has repeatedly and emphatically said he would not be interested in the No. 2 place, feeling he could accomplish more by continuing as governor.

He stuck to that position in the breakfast discussions with the other governors.

Nevertheless, Hatfield said he was not giving up hope that Rockefeller might yet change his mind.

Hope to Win Battle Before Ike's Arrival

Governors Seek To Persuade Rocky To Take No. 2 Post

CHICAGO (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon jubilantly claimed today "We've made some yardage" toward his goal of getting a stronger civil rights plank from the platform writers at the Republican National Convention.

The presidential nominee-to-be and this convention's other strong man, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, teamed in powering this effort.

They hoped to win their battle before the afternoon arrival here of President Eisenhower for a convention day to be given over largely to tribute to the World War II general who in 1952 led the GOP back to power after 20 years of Democratic control of the White House.

Eisenhower will address the convention tonight.

A forenoon meeting of the Platform Committee was the testing ground for what Nixon and Rockefeller had accomplished in efforts that occupied them during much of the night.

As the committee assembled, one of its Southern members — Thomas E. Stagg of Louisiana — said in an exchange with newsmen that he agreed that Nixon had made some gains for his view.

But Stagg insisted that there had not been enough shift of the platform to change the situation.

Nixon's assessment of ground gained came as he left his hotel for a series of meetings with state delegations. He told newsmen he had conferred with Rockefeller during the night and had telephone talks with numerous members of the platform committee.

Rockefeller pressed his platform views at a breakfast meeting with other Republican governors. Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon said the governors, on the other hand, were making an occasion for trying to persuade Rockefeller he should become receptive toward the vice presidential spot on the Republican ticket.

The New York governor has repeatedly and emphatically said he would not be interested in the No. 2 place, feeling he could accomplish more by continuing as governor.

He stuck to that position in the breakfast discussions with the other governors.

Nevertheless, Hatfield said he was not giving up hope that Rockefeller might yet change his mind.

Search Delayed for U.S. Weather Plane

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Search planes waited for improved weather today before heading into the vast northwest interior of Alaska on a hunt for a missing U.S. Weather Bureau aircraft with seven aboard.

The plane vanished on a flight from Anchorage across the interior to Nome, 550 miles to the northwest.

Last word from the craft was heard 34 minutes after it took off from here when it crossed over Skweta, a check point 100 miles north of Anchorage. It had fuel for six hours for the flight, which takes about four hours.

Foul weather Monday forced planes to turn back soon after they had left here to search for the missing craft.

George Brewster of the U.S. Weather Bureau in Washington, D. C. was piloting the plane. His passengers included Walter Brandstetter of the Everett, Wash. Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, and five members of the Anchorage Weather Bureau.

The others aboard were Bert Lindsey, Harry Carl, James W. Grant, Charles Belcher and Tom McDonald.

Judd Praises Nixon, Ike In Keynote Speech

CHICAGO (AP)—Rep. Walter H. Judd says the Eisenhower administration has kept peace with honor and that "the man this convention will nominate" is incomparably the best qualified to deal with the cold war.

Judd meant Vice President Richard M. Nixon. But his keynote speech Monday night was on the opening day of the Republican National Convention, and Nixon is not slated to be nominated until Wednesday night.

The Minnesota congressman's 6,000-word address followed the classic pattern of keynote orations, though it was longer than most. He sang praises for the Republican record under President Eisenhower, predicted even better things ahead under Nixon, and charged the Democrats were unequal to meet the challenge.

The delegates, in a relaxed and receptive mood, greeted his salutes with roars of approval.

"What kind of reckless and irresponsible action is it," Judd asked, "for anyone to misrepresent the United States as a second class power, as was done in the Democratic convention, and thereby encourage the very attacks which all Americans profoundly hope and pray can be prevented?"

In this 1890-1960 centennial year, Judd hearkened back to Abraham Lincoln, the first Republican president, and said the gravest issue of this century too is human slavery.

"This time not men enslaved by other men," he said, "but masses of men enslaved by governments. More human beings are in bondage tonight than every before in human history."

Dealing with more recent Republican history, Judd said the Eisenhower administration "brought to an end the fighting in the Korean war which the Truman administration would not win and could not stop."

"In addition," he said, "this administration has prevented a half dozen other threats from developing in war-Trieste, the Mossadegh uprising in Iran, Guatemala, Formosa, Suez, Lebanon, Quemoy, West Berlin."

Far from allowing the nation to sag into a dangerous lag in missile strength, as had been charged by Democrats, Judd said, the administration fought and overcame a lag in this field he said was inherited from the Truman administration.

The Truman administration is eight years had put 17 times more into price supports for peanuts than for long-range missiles," he said, adding:

"It took the Soviet Union 12 years to develop its long-range missiles. It took this administration six years to get ours operational. Anything wrong with that?"

Judd also pictured the use of the controversial U2 spy planes as one of several "brilliant examples of successful initiative."

"The fact that our U2 operations were so outstandingly successful for four years should be a source of intense pride to all Americans," he said. "The U2s were not provoking war, they were helping to prevent war."

Dull 1960 Conventions Bring Up Need for Rally Reorganization

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press news Analyst
CHICAGO (AP)—It's like a re-run of the World Series. You see the players running around the bases but you already know the score.

The Republican convention is pretty much a duplicate of the Democratic convention in Los Angeles two weeks ago.

Dull is an accurate word to describe them both.

At Los Angeles there never was much doubt Sen. John F. Kennedy would get the presidential nomination.

Here there never has been any doubt Vice President Richard M. Nixon would be the Republican presidential candidate. The convention will say so Wednesday.

With Kennedy it was just a question of which ballot he'd be nominated on. With Nixon it's even more cut and dried. He'll get it on the first.

The only surprise at Los Angeles was the choice of Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas to be Kennedy's vice presidential running mate.

Here the choice of Nixon's running mate still is up in the air. So that's the only element of surprise in Chicago.

In Los Angeles the Southern Democrats protested against the party's liberal civil rights plank. Here the Southern Republicans are protesting against the liberal civil rights plank demanded by Nixon and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Despite the machine-tooled nature of both conventions, the two parties still went through the traditional routine and long-winded speeches, full of bombast and exaggerations.

What the politicians of both parties seemed to overlook was how they looked on television.

In pre-TV days they could put their act on for hours and bore no one but themselves. Now, thanks to TV, they can bore the whole nation.

No wonder there is increasing talk for the need of future conventions to come abreast of the times, and cut their long-winded performances down to the essentials in choosing a presidential candidate.

There won't be much steam in either campaign until September, when the candidates start explaining how they'd carry out the promises made at these conventions made in South Viet Nam.

NO COFFEE BREAK — Flushing Communist guerrillas out in the swampy country at the tip of South Viet Nam is a miserable job for these government marines. They squeeze into sampans poled by natives for part of the search but must battle on foot with tangled vegetation, treacherous swamp water and mud. The men are armed with U.S. weapons but wear camouflaged combat uniforms made in South Viet Nam.

Bethlehem Steel Director Dies at 83

NAMED FBI ASSISTANT

CINCINNATI (AP) — Edwin R. Tully, a member of the FBI staff here for two years, has been named assistant to Ed D. Mason, special agent in charge of the Cincinnati office.

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — Eugene G. Grace, 83, who made Bethlehem Steel Corp. the nation's second largest producer, died Monday.

Grace, who for nearly half a century served as president, chairman of the board and chief executive officer, abandoned a promising career with the old Boston Braves to join Bethlehem in 1899 after graduating from Lehigh University at the top of his class.

His first job was that of an electric crane operator earning 15 cents an hour. He rose steadily until he became one of the highest paid corporate officers in the country. His salary and bonus totaled $1,560,000 in 1929.

Grace abounded in energy.

At the age of 80 he was in the midst of directing Bethlehem's $300 million dollar expansion program designed to increase its 20 million ton annual capacity by 3 million tons.

His philosophy was that a business cannot afford to stand still any more than an individual can. "I don't like to think backwards," he once said. "When a man stops thinking forward, he's done."

Grace, the son of a Goshen, N.J., sea captain turned shore merchant, has said he gave up baseball because he felt his career would be over at the age of 35. Ironically, in 1913 at the age of 36 he became president of Bethlehem Steel Co. Less than three years later he was promoted to president of the parent Bethlehem Steel Corp., owned by Charles M. Schwab.

Grace became board chairman in 1945 and continued as chief executive officer. Under his guidance Bethlehem's ingot capacity increased from 9505,000 tons in 1913 to 73 million tons for six years during and just after World War II. It now exceeds 20½ million tons. He was also chiefly responsible for making Bethlehem the nation's largest ship building concern.

3. THE CAUSE for a destructive anemia may be exposure to an industrial substance (arsenic, lead, antrobenzols) or to a drug (antibiotics like the sulfas or chlormycetin, tranquilizers like chlorpromazine, antiepileptics, etc.).

The destructive anemia progresses so slowly that the victim may not seek medical aid until urged by the observant housewife who may further aid doctor and patient by giving a complete list of suspected substances.

Again, treatment depends on recognition and elimination of the destructive agent.

THESE SCALES so often give false readings that doctors have come to use the expression "paper anemia."

TO BEGIN with, you should understand that the presence of anemia can be determined only by blood examinations.

Many persons who are naturally sallow and others who are pale as the result of long confinement indoors may have quite normal blood counts. On the reverse side of the coin, many patients with a considerable degree of anemia look well, particularly if sun-tanned.

Next you should understand that the blood examination must be conducted properly. It won't do merely to place a drop of blood on a piece of blotting paper and compare the color with the colors on a scale that's usually provided by the manufacturer of "blood builders."

Judge Kindly Lest Ye Be Judged

Quick judgments are being made against the Congolese for their misbehavior.

It is being pointed out—and it's true—that if Belgium had not given the Congolese their freedom indignities against whites and their attacks on one another would not have challenged these Africans to prove they can accept the responsibility that is the price of their independence.

But of all times, this is a time to judge kindly lest judgment be returned harshly.

Race relations in Africa have been worsening or years. Negroes have been losing patience with whites in direct ratio to the growth of African nationalism. They have grown angrier year by year as it became plain to them that breaking off colonialism was going to be as difficult as breaking off a habit.

They are impatient to get on with it. They are victims of the irresponsibility that is one of the bequests of colonialism. They have had no experience in self-government. Many have no capacity for self-discipline.

But let no one who is not a Negro say their violence in a time of great difficulty is a reflection on their race, or as their identity as Africans.

No Negro must apologize for an Adolf Eichmann, whose hands and soul are stained with the blood of millions of helpless Jews whose slaughter he arranged as coolly as a German butcher would have arranged the slaughter of chickens.

No Negro must apologize for anything like the ghastly era in the United States when recorded lynchings averaged better than 500 a year, with perhaps as many more unrecorded.

Negroes do not have on their consciences the responsibility for any of the wars that have wiped out the treasures of youth in generation after generation.

Wherever Negroes have happened to be during the international conspiracy of the Communist International, they have been a special frustration to its trained agitators. Nothing in their nature and nothing in their background as an ethnic group causes them to be as widely susceptible to Communist agitation as "students" in San Francisco, Tokyo, Montevideo, or Paris.

Congolese are burdening themselves with a shame they will have to live down—not all the Congolese, but a wild and undisciplined minority. They are entitled to every bit of help and guidance that can be given to them—from the prayers of their friends to the physical intervention of thousands of United Nations troops now entering the new republic to end a reign of terror.

The temptation to judge them harshly is strong.

They are not fully ready to bear responsibility for freedom.

What nation ever was? What nation did not go through a blood bath of violence and excess at its beginning?

What nation now boasts that its civilization is so perfect it no longer needs to fear the beast that lurks inside it?

Only One Thing Wrong With Polaris

It seems unbelievable at first that designers could find a way to fire a long-range rocket from a submarine. But in going further into the account of the successful Polaris firings from the new atom-powered submarine George Washington, one learns the technique is the same as firing a torpedo.

The difference is that the torpedo tube is larger and mounted in a vertical plane, instead of a horizontal plane. The rocket is pushed out by a blast of compressed air. Its fuel is ignited after it is on its way. It is as though it had been fired from a tube mounted on the surface of the earth, a possibility that has intrigued many laymen who have watched movies of the Cape Canaveral firings when a rocket was having trouble getting off the pad.

Polaris missiles soon will be operational, meaning they are in the experimental stage now, though some three years ahead of schedule. When the Defense Department finally has Polaris missiles in submarines cruising hither and yon in the Seven Seas and Minuteman missiles in concealed tubes in the earth and mounted on railroad cars, everybody will breathe easier.

The big thing in rocket strategy is mobility.

Everything that has been happening in connection with spy missions and hurry-up programs is aimed at getting rid of fixed missile bases, as far as the strategy for real war is concerned. The United States is catching up in a hurry, in case real war occurs.

Polaris is one of the most reassuring things that has been done in the name of national defense. If it comes up to its promise when it goes into the operational stage, it will give the United States missile mobility on the Seven Seas. If the Minuteman, the big solid-fuel rocket being readied for mobility on land, comes along soon, the mobility factor will be whacked.

And what is the only thing wrong with Polaris?

The American people have been told for several years that the Soviet Union had the capacity to launch missiles from submarines submerged off the two long coastlines of the United States.

The American people can guess by putting two and two together that their government has been trying to find out whether the Soviet Union, the other missile power, also has mobile missiles for land.

The only thing wrong with Polaris is that it sounds as if the United States had something original, when what it has done is to begin to start to catch up to a military capability the Soviet Union already possessed. The Russians had submarines and torpedo tubes too.

To the Limit of Endurance

If someone will hand us a tranquilizer, we'll say a few w-w-words about the frustration test developed by Dr. Hans Hahn of Transylvania College at Lexington, Ky.

Excuse us, while we swallow the lump, Down, Boy!

He does it—the professor—with mirrors, or rather a sheet of mirror-polished metal that keeps pulsating while the frustration victim keeps trying to trace geometric patterns on it. This can't be done. Please overlook the tremor.

The harder the frustration victim tries, the more he flies to pieces, until he begins to sob, giggle, curse and soon. Yes, our chn always trembles this way. You should know about the butterflies in our stomach—dozens of them. Woops, there goes one now. Bye, butterfly.

Once Over

The log cabin to White House routine has taken a powder. Horatio Alger has been vetoed. Candidate who peddled papers, polished shoes or shoveled snow to help keep the wolf from family door has met the cry of "Get lost!"

No matter who is chosen President, it won't be the barefoot boy type. Not a candidate on either ticket ever had much knowledge of the wild bee's morning chase; of the wild flowers' time and place, flight of fowl and habitude of the tenants of the wood" in the Whittier sense.

Jack Kennedy didn't get where he is knowing "how the tortoise bears his shell, how the woodchuck digs his cell or where the ground mole sinks his well."

Dick Nixon didn't come up through deep attention to "where the whitest lilies blow," or "where freshest berries grow."

The way things are going it would seem that the record as barefoot kid with lips "kissed by strawberries on the hill" could cost a man a nomination.

It could be regarded by politicians as almost as fatal as shooting for the White House on a record of having climbed from bottom of the ladder.

Nelson Rockefeller, who may one day get to the White House, never climbed a "flinty stubble-speared slope" knowing each morn "shall lead thee through fresh baptisms of the dew." "Stu" Symington was never sure where the "oriole's nest is hung."

The farm boy, the "upward and onward through shoelaces" type don't figure at conventions any more. Can anybody imagine Sen. Kennedy or Dick Nixon as a rail splitter, born in the backwoods, studying on the floor by the light of a logfire?

Humble other-side-of-the-tracks Presidents are vanishing Americans. Not many years ago a rich man aspiring to be President had almost no chance. It helped to have calloused hands, fallen arches and some tooth lost through being kicked by a plowhorse.

Campaign slogans for Kennedy could be "From Luxury Living To the White House," "Up The Potomac With Personality and Money," or "From Upper Brackets to The Lower Potomac."

For Nixon how about "From White House to White House," "Vote For Dick. He's So Well Off He Didn't Need Rockefeller's Aid."

REMEMBER AWAY BACK when you didn't feel underprivileged if you hadn't your own swimming pool?

Chicago crack is that Ike limited briefing on top secrets to Kennedy and Johnson was fear Democrats might send Frankie Sinatra and Peter Lawford.

If Rockefeller is determined to get anywhere he should start distributing dimes.

Jack Kennedy has named to his staff William Battle, commander of the PT boat's desperate fight most people expect, no better man could be kept close at hand. Wonder what Mr. Battle thinks of as he recalls the dark and bloody night when the Japs cut Kennedy's PT craft in half and left Jack close to death by drowning. He probably never dreamt that he was rescuing a future candidate for presidency of the United States, and in a way switching the fight from the Pacific to the Potomac.

Time for Decision

Political Sideshows

By WALTER MONFRIED

paign time in party rallies and church services.

"I have no illusions about winning," he said, "but I hope to impress upon as many persons as possible our party's cred that liquor is the nation's greatest evil."

But, while the Democrats and Republicans carry on under the quadrelian 'big top,' the merry little sideshows again will be offered by the 'third' parties. ('Third' parties may be fourth, fifth, sixth or more.)

These small minority factions add zest and, sometimes, humor to politics. Some of them may be oddballs or exhibitionists, or devout fanatics, but in an era of conformity they are welcome.

Henry Krajewski, the New Jersey pig grower who can never resist an election campaign, is again in the field for the Poor Man's Party and his slogan, as usual, is "All politicians are crooks."

Actually, he makes an exception of his friend, Mr. Eisenhower, who invited the entire Krajewski family to the 1957 inaugural ball.

CLENNON KING, an Alabama pastor, is striving for the presidency under the banner of the newly formed Afro-American Unity Party, which he asserts is the first organized Negro political party in perennial and immortal.

The scholarly Darlington Hoopes will be on no ballot this year because the Socialist Party has decided not to enter the contest. Hoopes succeeded Norman Thomas as the Socialists' regular entrant. Nor is it likely that T. Coleman Andrews, former national income tax collector, will repeat his 1956 campaign for the Better Government Under the Constitution Party.

Previous candidates of the Prohibitionists have been unusual men. In 1892 Gen. John Bidwell, a wealthy wine producer in California, concluded that his business was making drunkards, so he quit it forever and entered politics. The 1904 candidate, Silas C. Swallow, was described as "6 feet tall and every inch backbone."

Our public has operated on the two - party system since George Washington's presidency. His two great political lieutenants, Hamilton and Jefferson, were the philosophies of our two major parties, the Republican and Democratic respectively, and their influence is respected.

Third or minor parties have wielded mighty influence in the present century. In 1912 Theodore Roosevelt split the GOP with his Progressive Party that insured Wilson's election. Four years later occurred a crucially close race. With returns in from all states but one, Hughes seemed assured of victory. But California, last to report, went for Wilson by only 3,000 votes — with 70,000 votes going to every inch backbone.

The Quids seem to have been the first of the third parties. The name is derived from a Latin phrase, "Tertrum Quid," meaning "a third something." The eccentric John Roanoke led the faction from 1805 to 1812 to oppose Jefferson and boost the candidacy of James Monroe several years before Monroe slugged the highest office.

But chances are that Farrell Dobbs again will carry the standard of the Socialist-Worker (Trotskyite) Party, which is Communist but anti-Kremlin; and that Eric Hiss will run for the socialist-labor faction, a nonrevolutionary one. Numerous other groups will enter the lists in various states if past performance is any indication.

Four years ago, for example, President Eisenhower did not carry Mississippi, but the lack and Tan Grand Old Party there was happy to contribute its 4,300 votes to his cause. More than 134,000 voters in southern states backed the Byrd Independent and States Rights movement even though their hero, Senator Byrd of Virginia, was not a candidate.

The Anti-Masonic Party frightened thousands of Masons out of their lodges before subsiding in the 1830's. The Know-Nothings (Formally the Native American Party) were patriotic fanatics opposed to Catholics and Irish immigrants. A former president, Willard Fillmore, ran on this ticket in 1856.

The Democratic Party has been splintered many times since the Quids. The Pewter Muggers opposed the "regular" Tammany Hall organization in New York in 1828. They were opposed by the Bucktails, so called because of their bucktail insignia.

In 1890's David B. Hill called a snap convention of New York state Democrats to oppose Grover Cleveland. The Cleveland loyalists, battling this movement, became Antisappers.

The Republicans, too, have suffered numerous defections: Independent Liberal Republicans (1872), Independent Republicans (1884), who fought the party's nominees, and so on.

A HISTORY of discontent could be written out of the records of National Greenback Labor, People's Party (Populists), United Labor and Commonwealth Land (single taxers), Gold Democrats, Silver Republican, National Abolition of slavery, Woman's Suffrage, Farmer-Labor and the quaintly named Sand Lot Party (opposed to West Coast Chinese).

It Doesn't Matter

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Vice Presidency Won't Make the Difference

CHICAGO — In both parties there's been an overemphasis on the vice presidency. The selection or failure to select any particular in either case will not decisively influence the result.

If it's in the cards, for instance, for Nixon to carry New York state, he will do so irrespective of whether Gov. Rockefeller had been his running mate.

If, on the other hand, it's in the cards for Sen. Kennedy to win the election, he will do so without the states in the South he is supposed to have drawn to his banner by the selection of Lyndon Johnson as the vice presidential nominee.

HISTORY PROVES that in not a single instance has the vice presidential nominee of either party, by carrying his own state, contributed enough electoral votes to bring in his running mate. This has been true for more than 100 years.

Take the 1928 election, for instance, Al Smith, who three times had been elected governor of New York on the Democratic ticket, did not carry the electoral votes of his own state.

As for his vice presidential nominee, Joseph T. Robinson — who was nationally known because, like Lyndon Johnson, he was the Democratic leader of the Senate — the results after Election Day showed that he carried his home state of Arkansas all right, though by a reduced margin.

But he couldn't prevent five other states of the solid South from going Republican.

THIS OFTEN HAS been attributed to the religious issue, but this writer always has believed it was related to the prohibition issue. For the South was determined at that time to keep its states dry because of circumstances related to the Negro problem.

Take next the 1952 campaign, when the Democrats thought it might be helpful to have a Southerner on the ticket.

Sen. John Sparkman, the vice presidential nominee, carried his home state of Alabama though by a greatly reduced majority as the Republicans piled up a vote in that state nearly four times what Dewey, the Republican presidential nominee, got in either 1944 or 1948.

But the presence of a Southerner on the ticket didn't prevent four other Southern states — Texas, Tennessee, Florida and Virginia — from going Republican, and here was no religious issue involved either.

TAKE, THEN, the 1956 election when another Southerner, Sen. Estes Kefauver, was named for the vice presidency on the Democratic ticket.

No matter who wins the U.S. presidential election in November, the Arabs won't be happy.

Howls of protest and cries of "foul" already have come from the Arab ranks over the Middle East plank of the Democratic Party platform.

"It's completely in favor of Israel," roared a top official of the Arab league.

An official protest statement from the government of the United Arab Republic also has accused the Republican presidential favorite, Richard M. Nixon, of pandering to Zionism on the Suez Canal in his quest for Jewish votes.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the U.A.R. has prepared his corner of the Arab home front for what many observers foresee as a "correct but cool" future in Washington-Arab relations.

The town's three crossings of the Pennsylvania Railroad's main east-west line were blocked for about 45 minutes Monday morning by a disabled freight train, forcing traffic inbound from the south and east to make a long wait or to back-track and cut over to the Lisbon Rd. where the railroad crosses overhead. The 145-car eastbound train was halted by locked wheels on one of the freight vans and finally got under way again about 8:30 a.m.

Nixon Sails Easy Course At Convention

CHICAGO (AP) — The Republican platform dispute over civil rights provided the only jarring note for Vice President Richard M. Nixon today.

Certainly everything else was going his way.

The 47-year-old Californian, who attended the 1952 GOP convention here as an ordinary delegate, rode in to a friendly and tumultuous welcome Monday.

Seemingly there was nothing to challenge the certainty of his nomination as the Republican nominee for Sen. John F. Kennedy in a campaign that Nixon expects to be a tough one.

Even on the platform disagreement, the vice president held out hope that the differences between what he wants and what the platform committee has offered can be smoothed away without a shattering open battle.

Nixon postponed a series of visits with state delegations and worked throughout the day to avert a clash that could be costly in the election.

He called in members of the platform committee and high-ranking party members to outline his views.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, for one, came away confident, he said, that something will be worked out.

Nixon said later he figures he will have the votes to push through a "good civil rights program," certainly in the convention itself if not in the platform committee which meets today. He added "I believe we have made some progress" in working out an acceptable plank.

The vice president climaxed his arduous day by paying his respects to the party's elder statesman, former President Herbert Hoover, at the latter's hotel.

Today, Nixon arranged to drop in on 21 state conventions in seven forenoon meetings at his hotel.

Nixon and his wife were to lunch with President and Mrs. Eisenhower in the presidential suite on the Sheraton-Blackstone Hotel, where the vice president also is staying.

Notify Social Security If You Plan to Move

Statistics show that one in four families in the United States changes residence during the course of a year. Of the 13 million people in this country getting social security checks, a good number also have a different address during a vacation period.

According to William J. McCaulley, district social security manager, unfortunately some people don't notify us when they do change their address. Consequently, the monthly social security check often doesn't catch up with them for quite a while.

"There's one simple solution to this problem—namely—notify social security when you move!", McCaulley says. "Even better, send our notification in beforehand, if possible. And don't forget—put your social security number on it. In all things pertaining to social security, your number is all important. Many of the voluminous records of social security are recorded primarily by social security number."

The proper way to notify the social security office is on the post card form which each person received when he first signed up for his benefits. Possibly this card may have been misplaced, but the local social security office has one for the asking. It doesn't take more than a minute or two to complete and sign. If you're getting social security benefits, see to it that social security is the first to know about your expected change of address.

Ohio Delegates

Ohio, that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller still might accept a draft for the No. 2 spot. These hopes, however, were in the face of Rockefeller's own disclaimer, Nixon's own public acceptance of Rockefeller's decision and Nixon's statement that President Eisenhower will not attempt to persuade Rockefeller to run.

Most Ohio delegates were inclined to take Rockefeller at his word and write him off as a vice presidential possibility. Although it was impossible because of the full-swing convention activity to take an accurate poll of the delegation, it appeared that U. N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge has heavy Buckeye support.

But Sen. Thurston Morton of neighboring Kentucky, the Republinc national chairman, also has considerable backing among the Ohioans.

Regardless of who the personal favorites are, however, Nixon can count on solid Ohio backing for his own choice for the vice presidential nomination when the time comes.

He intends "Citizens-for-Kennedy" to fit into the structure and provide a voice for independents and dissident Republicans.

Social Security Benefits Over 20 Years

Mounting growth of social security payments over the 20-year period since their inception in 1940 is shown in the above charts. Sketches tell the human story in back of the figures, the ways in which social security benefits those in need: the unemployed, widows and dependent children, the disabled and the blind. The last decade has seen an upsurge in insurance payments to the aged while payments of old age assistance—paid from federal state and local taxes—have leveled off. Payments to the handicapped, after steep climbs during the first 15 years of the program, have slowed their rate of climb in the last five years. Source: Social Security Bulletin.

on his arrival and to give him a convention ovation tonight left almost nothing to chance. Unless a cog slipped, it would be the biggest thing of its kind the Republican party ever put on.

But in the backfield some confusion remained over the signals for an end run around the line of Southern and Western delegates standing for a moderate civil rights plank. Nor was there agreement on where to throw the pass that would carry the party beyond the limits of the Eisenhower defense program.

Rockefeller expressed belief that he and Nixon can agree on terms of a plank calling for accelerated efforts to bolster the nation's defense. He saw no probability of convention floor ruckus on this.

But his and the vice president's efforts to get platform committee approval of civil rights declaration that carried an endorsement of lunch counter sit-ins was another matter.

As Rockefeller himself put it: "We've got the language, but have we got the votes?"

Nixon, working to avoid a floor fight that might delay his own nomination Wednesday night until East Coast television viewers had gone to bed, put on a cheerful front.

He called in committee recalculants and announced later he believes the necessary votes may be obtained. If they are not, he and Rockefeller expressed confidence that the convention itself will go along with their views.

In the platform committee each state has two votes. On the convention floor the big-vote states supporting a strong plank could smother the opposition.

There was no readily available information on just how far the plank would go. But Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York said he was informed it would call not only for approval of lunch counter sit-ins but would propose armament of the attorney general with authority to initiate civil rights suits.

Eisenhower, taking time out from his vacation in Newport, R.I., was expected to be concerned not only about the quarrelsome civil rights and defense planks but about his views on the vice presidential nominee.

Nixon told a news conference the President's opinion would have great weight with him in choosing his running mate.

There seemed little doubt that U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. had the inside track at the moment. Nevertheless, some delegates were murmuring that they didn't know why they should take on a man who in 1952 lost his Senate seat to Sen. John F. Kennedy, now the Democratic presidential nominee.

They included: Vernon Richard Jack, 22, of Leetonia, $15 and William R. Old Dutch, Orphans Pull Upsets in Class AA Softball

Playoff Picture Muddled Again
Games Tonight Could Increase Scramble

The four teams which will take part in the Class AA softball playoff this year were determined long ago, but the pairings for that playoff hinge on the outcome of the two games scheduled for Kelley field tonight. These games will wind up regular season play.

The two top clubs in the loop, Herron Transfer and Stepanic's Tavern were both victims of big upsets Monday night which threw an already scrambled race into a real riddle.

Old Dutch Beer surprised league-leading Herron Transfer by dumping the Truckers, 5-3. The Orphans, who are out of the playoff picture, knocked Stepanic's Tavern out of the runner-up spot by taking a 3-2 decision. Shaffer Ford took over second place by a half game by dumping hapless Deming Co., 11-3.

THE CLASS AA playoff, which is slated to get underway Thursday night at Kelley Field, calls for the first place team to meet the third place club and the number two team to take on the fourth place outfit.

Herron Transfer, Shaffer Ford, Stepanic's Tavern and Old Dutch Beer will be the teams in the playoff, but who will play whom is still very much up in the air.

Shaffer Ford has already finished its season with a 10-5 mark. Stepanic's Tavern (9-5) is slated to meet Old Dutch (8-6) tonight, and Herron Transfer (10-4) is slated to go against the Orphans.

If the Orphans and Old Dutch win tonight, a pre-playoff would be necessary to untangle all four contenders. No matter who wins the Old Dutch-Stepanic's fray, there is going to be a tie. A victory for Stepanic's would tie that club for second with Shaffer Ford. A loss by Stepanic's would mean a third place tie with Old Dutch.

THERE ARE MANY other intriguing possibilities such as a three-way tie for first if Herrons loses and Stepanic's wins tonight. If things go too far wrong tonight for Dave Brisken, the executive secretary of the leagues, his Class AA boys may be playing right through the football season.

Hank Miller of Old Dutch Beer set Herron Transfer down on three hits last night. Four straight singles by D. Haynam featured Old Dutch's 10-hit assault on loser Roger Wyss. Old Dutch took a two-run lead in the first inning and never relinquished it.

Orphans put together a double by Marty Limpose, a single by Mickey Sanfrey and two Stepanic errors to score three runs in the third inning, all they needed for their 3-2 win.

THE WELL-PITCHED fray saw only a total of nine hits recorded, five of them by the Orphans. Stonemetz was the winning hurler while Glenn Mercer was tagged with the loss.

Limpose of the winners and Manfull of Stepanic's each had two hits in the fray. One of Manfull's blows was a triple.

Shaffer Ford handed Deming Co. its 14th loss in 15 games, this time by a 11-3 score. Home runs by Altomore, and R. Hiner did most of the damage for Shaffer Ford. Pitcher Bruce Feicht and Ferguson of the winners chopped in with three hits apiece.

Wayne Hahn accounted for all three of Deming's runs with a home run in the third.

Paul Brown Attempts To Fire Up Gridders

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — The 46 players at the opening of the Cleveland Browns' training camp here Monday were told by Coach Paul Brown to get themselves set for a rugged camp experience."

The coach called upon the players to dedicate themselves to foot ball and "be ready to pay the price."

"Play with exuberance," he said. "I don't want this team to look like a typical pro football team. I have a philosophy that we have to be the best."

"We have lost something by not being in the championship game the last few years. We're going to regain that old standing."

Brown said he welcomed the challenge of the rookies and other newcomers and had this word of warning for the veterans:

"Anyone giving an indication of being tender will be gone. We're looking for class people. The core of our best teams were that kind."

The coach said rules would be enforced with fines ranging from $50 for missing a meal to $500 for leaving the room after bed check during the training season or while on the road.

Events for boys 16 to 18 are the 100-yard dash, 440-yard dash, one mile run, 880-yard relay, broad jump, high jump and eight pound shot put. Girls in the 14 to 15 class may try their hand at the 75-yard dash, 300-yard shuttle relay, broad jump and softball throw for distance.

Separate competition will be held for boys and girls in all other events.

In the 9 to 11 age group, contestants will be competing in four events. They are the 50-yard dash, 20-yard shuttle relay, broad jump and softball throw for distance.

The program is slated to get underway at Reilly Stadium at 1 p.m.

Pittsburgh, Cincinnati Capture NL Victories

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer They said the trouble with the Pittsburgh Pirates is that they're just a bunch of singles hitters. They lacked the ingredient that helps win pennants—the long ball.

So what did the Bucs do about getting back to first place Monday night? They banged out three home runs and halted the oncoming St. Louis Cardinals with a 4-2 victory that gave them a half-game lead over the idle second-place Milwaukee Braves.

Bill Virdon, Bob Skinner and Roberto Clemente provided the long ball. Virdon hit his homer in the sixth. The blow came off Larry Jackson and tied the score at 1-1. Nuxhall went ahead, 2-1 in the sixth and St. Louis tied it again in the seventh, when Jackson went out for a pinch hitter.

Hot Stove Leagues

The Salem Hot Stove Leagues got back to intraleague competition Monday night after only a fair showing over the weekend in the District Tournament at Alliance where only five of the 13 local teams which went to the post against out of town foes came home with victories.

One of the five winners, Farmers Bank of Class F, chalked up its 13th straight league victory last night by smothering the Elks, 23-4. Farmers is now just one game away from completing an undefeated season. Fisher News is the only regular season for which stands in the way of the Bankers' goal.

Hobbycraft, one of the two Class H Salem teams to advance in the tourney, was crushed 18-8 last night by Home Furniture. Ironically, Home Furniture failed to survive the first round of the tournament.

The Damascus Merchants played their second Class E game in the local league last night and went down to defeat, 8-5, at the hands of the visiting Bliss CIO club.

CLASS E

Bliss CIO rallied from a 5-2 deficit with two runs in the sixth and four in the seventh in its 8-5 win over Damascus in a game played at Westville.

Bill Beery had home run for Bliss and teammates Cook and Keeler rapped out two hits apiece in the victory. Gary Smith had two hits for Damascus.

Cook relieved Beery on the mound for Bliss to pick up the win. Hendricks was charged with the loss.

CLASS F

Farmers Bank pounded out a merciless 23 hit barrage in tearing up Elks 23-4. Most of the Bankers used the occasion to fatten up their already well stuffed batting average.

Aaron Arter, Bink Washington and George Begalla, hitting two-three-four in the bating order, smashed out four hits apiece. Begalla had two home runs, a triple and a single. Arter laced out a Homer and three singles while Washington poked a triple and three singles.

Washington did the hurling for the winners, giving up just three hits, including a first inning double to Dave Walker. The young curveballer fanned 12 Elks batters and didn't walk a man.

It was Washington who saved the tournament game Saturday when he relieved starting pitcher George Begalla on the mound in the fourth and struck out seven men in the three and a third innings he worked. The Bankers rallied from behind in that game to defeat the top Class F team in Wooster by a 7- score.

In the other Class F game played last night, a rejuvenated Eljer team gave Sekely's a 13-7 working over. Eljer dropped its first 10 games this season but has now come on to win two of its last three contests.

However, Manager Harry Paxson's club isn't going to be able to do much about its last place position this season since it has Bricker & Bricker clobbered Italian Club, 16-8 and Eagles roughed up Hunt's Independent Union, 17-2, in Class G action last night.

The big blow in Bricker's 16-hit attack was a sixth inning homer by Dave Bradley. Grady Metts, the winning hurler, gave up five hits and fanned seven.

Dennis Mayhew paced the losers with a pair of singles.

Dave Brown of Eagles and Dave Long of Hunt's each poked out three-run homers in their fray.

Home Furniture got its 18 runs on only six hits in its win over Hobbycat. The win was the fourth in five games for Home Furniture. FARM SAFETY WEEK

Observe National Farm Safety Week Every Week Of The Year!

JULY

In this day of Mechanized Farming, Farm Safety is of the utmost importance; it pays to be alert and have everything in order. See that tractors, trucks, and other farm machinery and equipment are kept in repair. Watch electric especially in the outbuildings. Be careful about building bonfires. Fire on a farm is a serious matter! Do you carry Liability Insurance, so that if someone is injured on your property you would be protected? Are your buildings properly insured? Do you have accident and hospitalization insurance? The modern farm is like a factory and safety first is given great importance in manufacturing plants. Better Be Safe Than Sorry!

Farm Work Mishaps Injures 321,600 Each Year

Surveys show that many of these accidents on farms and about farm buildings took the lives of young people who were not properly safeguarded by their parents and had not acquired safety instructions.

Foresight now will at least take the sting of financial burden away from these accidents that seem bound to happen!

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Few political developments have so swiftly stirred international discussion as have Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's recent statements and activities. Victor Riesel asked the governor for his views on labor and production. His reply follows...

I have long urged that our country strive for a faster rate of economic growth—without massive government spending, controls or inflation.

The advantages of faster growth are great and obvious. Our people would enjoy higher living standards. More and better jobs would be available to meet the problems of automation and increased population.

The higher corporate and personal incomes coming from faster growth would yield increased revenues within a stable tax structure, so we could invest more in national defense and social gains without raising tax rates.

A more dynamic U.S. economy would be more efficient because of greater productivity per man hour and, therefore, more competitive in world markets.

The rate in our economic growth is also important in relation to our capacity to cooperate effectively with the less developed and emerging nations of the world.

IT IS A FACTOR in their appraisal of and confidence in the capacity of our system of private initiative as compared with the Soviet collective system, which they can observe to be growing now more rapidly than ours.

With all these benefits to be gained from greater growth, why is there opposition to attempts to achieve it?

The opposition comes partly from the laissez-faire school of economic thinkers. They believe that our economy should be left strictly alone, to seek its own level.

To me, this point of view is not only defeatist, since it suggests that free men are not masters of their economic destiny but also ill-informed.

It ignores the fact that deliberate individual decisions for expansion have always been behind the growth of American businesses and allowances realistically geared to the useful, efficient life of plant and equipment.

2. That we work toward eliminating featherbedding of all types, not only in labor practices but also in many forms of business subsidy that perpetuate inefficient production.

3. That we work toward more productive employment for our many low-income farmers, who now contribute less than their full potential.

4. That we work toward elimination of racial discrimination which, in addition to its moral indefensibility, wastes the potential skills of a significant part of the population.

Over and above these improvements, we should strive for continued progress in curbing inflation and business recessions through enlightened fiscal and monetary programs.

Removing the waste of inflation and recession would allow us to get the full benefits of greater growth through greater efficiency.

This is a program to bring us all the rewards of greater growth. It would not shrink but strengthen, the freedom of our economy.

And it would give us ample material means to achieve all our objectives—foreign and domestic—in the 1960's.

"Pretty cool—the way the Gas Company advances money for GAS Air Conditioning"

Casper: No bones about it, were there? The Gas Company handled all the financing, including installation. And the low monthly installments can be paid with our Gas bills.

George: No wonder so many people are installing GAS Central Air Conditioning.

Casper: Sure. And there are two GAS Air-Conditioning systems available. There's the Arkla-Servel Single Unit that both heats and cools and the new Bryant Add-On that connects to GAS Forced Air Heating Systems.

George: Sure is nice.

Casper: You should hear what people who have GAS Central Air Conditioning say about it! Everyone sleeps better. The whole family stays home more. They spend a lot less for recreation, cleaning and laundry, too.

George: I'll be doggone.

Your Gas Company sells, supervises installations, guarantees satisfaction and finances GAS Air-Conditioning Systems.

See how little GAS Air Conditioning costs to own and operate. Ask for free booklet of photos and testimonials based on GAS Air Conditioning users' actual year around bills. Get your copy today. Just write or call: ED. 2-4615
